

CONVENTION BEGINS AT SAN FRANCISCO

FIRST OF A SERIES OF CONFERENCES ARE HELD.

The World Sends Greetings—Gathering of Christian Endeavorers Resembles the Outpouring Incident to a National Convention—The Secretary's Report.

San Francisco, Cal., July 9.—It may now be said that the Christian Endeavorers have completed their conquest of this city.

They have arrived in such numbers during the last twenty-four hours as to permeate every quarter of the city. The scenes at the pavilion resemble a national political convention, except that more women remain in evidence on this occasion than usually attend great gatherings. In fact, fully two-thirds of the delegates are of the gentler sex.

The work of decorating the different state booths is about completed, and the installing of the coat of arms of each state on the different booths has given life and color to every nook in the big building.

Michigan's delegation, nearly 500 strong, is preparing to do battle with Ohio for the honor of the convention of 1899, hoping to secure the prize for Detroit, with some prospects of success.

The Rev. Francis E. Clark, father of the Christian Endeavor, made his first public appearance in California at the First Presbyterian church in Oakland. The Endeavorers of Oakland turned out in thousands and gave the distinguished visitor a rousing reception.

The annual board of trustees meeting will be held at the Palace hotel Tuesday, July 13. It was necessary to postpone this meeting, which was originally scheduled for the 7th, until the arrival of a number of trustees, who are delayed en route. This meeting will be an important one, as it is to decide where the convention of 1899 is to be held.

The eyes of the Endeavorers in the remotest section of the world were turned upon the great gathering that was called to order Thursday by Chairman Rolla V. Watt. Greetings were read from India, France, Japan, Germany, and other alien lands.

Rev. John Hemphill, D. D., delivered the address of welcome on behalf of San Francisco pastors.

The subject of the annual message of the president, Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., was "A World-Encircling Religious Movement; How Shall It Fulfill God's Design?" In answering the question of the text Dr. Clark said the movement must be true to its fundamental ideas, must necessarily be unifying, must be a pervasive force, must be sacrificial, and must listen to God's voice and continually obey it.

The report of John Willis Baer, general secretary, contained the following:

"In 1861 there was but one society and fifty-seven members. In 1897 there are 50,780 societies and a total membership of 3,000,000. Of the states having more than 1,000 local societies, Pennsylvania leads with 3,443, New York has 3,049, Ohio 2,383, Illinois 2,013, Ontario 1,783, Indiana 1,387, Iowa 1,336, and Michigan 1,071. These figures do not include the junior, intermediate, the senior and mothers' societies. The banner given to the state that has made the largest gains goes this year to Ohio. The second junior banner goes from Mexico to Spain.

"England has 3,925 societies, Australia 2,124, Scotland 433, Wales 311, India 250, Ireland 169, Madagascar 93, France 68, Mexico 100, Japan 66, West Indies 63, Turkey 41, China 53, Africa 52, Germany 32—in all, 7,919 societies in other countries. In addition Canada has 3,390. The badge banner for the greatest proportionate increase in the number of societies, now held by Scotland, will go to the Endeavorers on the Emerald Isle.

"In the United States the Presbyterians have 5,531 young people's and 2,914 junior societies; the Congregationalists come next with 4,156 young people's and 1,322 juniors; Baptists, 2,640 young people's and 1,080 juniors; Cumberland Presbyterian, 867 young people's and 361 juniors; Methodist Protestants, 971 young people's and 251 juniors; Lutherans, 829 young people's and 324 juniors, nearly forty denominations being represented.

"During the last eleven months 25,264 of the juniors have joined the church, and from the young people's societies 187,125; in all, 213,389.

Denominational rallies were held in the thirty-two churches of the city in the afternoon. All were largely attended.

After the rallies the delegates and their friends visited many points of interest in and about the city, under the escort of the reception committee.

An incident of the Christian Endeavor meeting in Woodward's pavilion, which caused long continued applause, was the reading of the following telegram from the president:

"Washington, July 8.—John Willis Baer, San Francisco: Best wishes for the success of the convention.

"WILLIAM M'KINLEY."

Says Silver Is a Dead Issue. Carthage, Mo., July 9.—Mrs. Mary E. Lease, who is here as a lecturer at the Chautauqua assembly, said in an interview: "The silver question is an issue of the past and will never again

THE BASEBALL REPORT.

Results of Yesterday's Games Played in the Various Leagues.

Boston's winning run of victories was brought to a close yesterday in the tenth inning of one of the hottest games ever played at Chicago. Most of the credit for the capture of the game is due to Griffith, but his support was excellent and the play spirited. Chicago moved into tenth place as a result of the victory. Cincinnati gained another notch on Baltimore. The Reds found nothing difficult in the Phillies, while the champions fell before Louisville. Hanlon's men must brace soon or be out of the race. Brooklyn and St. Louis had a hot struggle, won by the easterners, and New York just beat out Pittsburgh. Washington was easy for Cleveland. Scores:

At Chicago—
Chicago 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1—2
Boston 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—1
At Louisville—
Louisville 3 0 0 1 1 0 0 2—7
Baltimore 0 1 0 1 0 1 0 0—3
At Pittsburgh—

Mission of Woodford.
Washington, July 9.—It can be stated upon excellent authority that the principal feature of Minister Woodford's instructions will be to tender Spain the good offices of the United States to end the war in Cuba. It will be remembered that a similar offer was made under the Cleveland administration and rejected. Precautions have been taken by this administration, however, to sound the Spanish ministry on the subject before making the second proposal, and an intimation is said to have been given that the good offices will be accepted.

Work of Miners' Convention.
Denver, Col., July 9.—At the second day's session of the international gold mining convention resolutions were introduced asking congress to revise the mining laws so that the present complications in acquiring titles to mining claims may be abolished, and to take as prompt action as possible by legislation as will throw open to prospectors, miners and mining operators all mineral land within Spanish land grants in certain western states.

Senator Quay Has Had Enough.
Washington, July 9.—Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, when asked concerning the statement that he would retire from public life at the close of his term, said he was making no official announcement that he would not be a candidate for re-election, but unless he changed his mind he would not remain longer in the senate.

Trolley Crew Is Held.
Bay City, Mich., July 9.—Motorman Riley, who had charge of the car which plunged into the river Wednesday, was arraigned here, charged with manslaughter. He was released on $5,000 bonds. Conductor O'Brien cannot leave the house on account of his injuries, but he also was held for appearance.

Dr. Cornwall Is Justified.
St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of Dr. Richmond Cornwall, who killed his brother Herbert Wednesday while defending himself and his aged father against the murderous assaults of the former.

Madrid, July 9.—La Voz de Gopuzcoa of St. Sebastian reproduces the text of Japan's protest to the United States against the annexation of Hawaii, and urges the population to give an enthusiastic farewell to the Japanese ambassador in order to "demonstrate Spanish sympathy with a people which will not tolerate humiliations, and is able to cope in pride with the Yankees, who are eternal enemies of Spain."

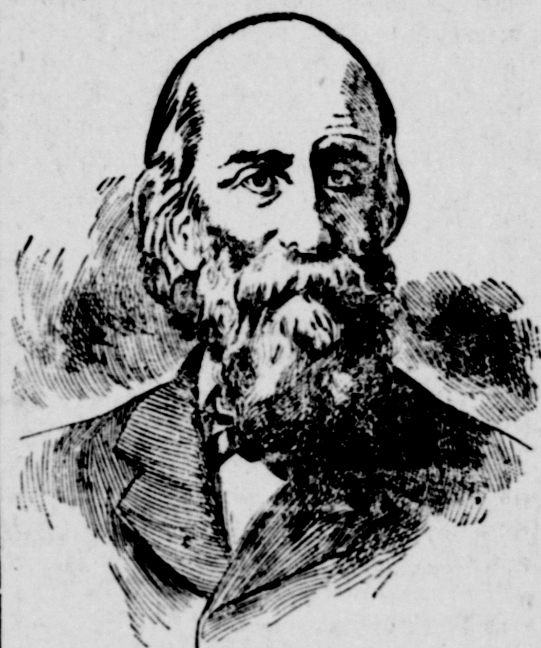

THE TEACHERS TALK OF RURAL SCHOOLS

INTERESTING DISCUSSION AT MILWAUKEE TODAY.

Prof. B. A. Hinsdale, of Ann Arbor, Lead the Conference, the Topic Being "The Need of Advanced Material Support"—Pupils Should Be Compelled to Obey

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9.—Thursday's session of the National Educational association was mostly devoted to a discussion of rural schools and their needs.

Prof. B. A. Hinsdale of Ann Arbor, Mich., led the discussion of the question, his theme being "The Need of Enhanced Material Support."

REV. LYMAN ABBOTT.

William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, following Prof. Hinsdale, speaking on "Grading and Classification." The last speaker assigned to the discussion of the rural-school topic was Prof. David L. Kiehl, professor of pedagogy in the University of Minnesota, whose subject was "Intellectual Needs," but opportunity was given for a general discussion under the five-minute rule.

The department of child study continues to attract much attention and the discussions of no section arouses more interest. Dr. R. P. Halleck, a writer of note on this subject, had a paper before the section, "The Bearings of the Laws of Cerebral Development and Modification on Child Study." Religion in the public schools—this is what Rev. Lyman Abbott said he believed in. This religion he would have taught in the school is not theology. He says it is a practical training in justice, mercy, truth, faith, hope, love and goodness.

He said that if the state had the right to provide self-education it ought to have the right to provide all the elements of self-government. He believed the public schools ought to have the power to compel recalcitrant pupils to obey. He spoke of the fear of the people lest religion should creep into the public schools. He said emphatically that he is against public worship in public schools.

Bankers Meet in Waukesha. Waukesha, Wis., July 9.—The annual meeting of the State Bankers' association opened Thursday afternoon at the Fountain house. The meeting began in the evening with a lecture at Shilurian casino by J. Laurence Laughlin, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, on "Some Aspects of Socialism." Today's program includes the business meeting of the delegates and a banquet and ball in the evening.

Bribery Scandal at Chicago. Chicago, July 9.—Henry Brandenburg unqualifiedly charges Alderman John Powers of the Nineteenth ward with demanding $200,000 to pass the general electric ordinance. In addition to this he asserts that he is the victim of a conspiracy on the part of Powers, Perry Hull, Lucius Clark, C. T. Yerkes, J. Pierpont Morgan, E. J. Judd, J. H. Van Pelt, Charles H. Loss and H. H. Everhard. He has begun suit against the persons named for the return of $500 shares of stock which had passed out of his hands and practically debars him from any interest in the project, which he claims to have invented and promoted. Alderman Powers and the others involved assert that Brandenburg is nothing other than a swindler and a blackmailer.

Lucius Clark, the principal promoter of the General Electric Street Railway company, has caused the arrest of Henry Brandenburg on a criminal charge of perjury.

Special Message Held. Washington, July 9.—The proposed message of the president to congress recommending the appointment of a commission to consider the question of a revision of our currency and national banking laws was not transmitted Thursday, nor likely to be for several days. The president is now undecided whether or not to send in any message, for the reason that a number of the most important leaders of the party in the senate and house have made strong representations to him of the inadvisability of sending a message to congress while the tariff bill is in conference.

Ten Persons Injured. Chicago, July 9.—A trolley car smashed into a horse cart at Ogden avenue and West Congress street at 8:30 o'clock last night. Ten persons were injured, none seriously.

COL. W. P. READ TRIES TO END THE STRIKE

THE CHICAGO MAN PLEADS FOR ARBITRATION.

Says Miners Ask Too Much—In An Interview He Says the Men Must Moderate Their Demands or Their Cause is Lost—More Miners Join the Strikers.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 9.—Col. W. P. Read, the coal operator who came here from Chicago to urge the other operators to compromise the strike, gave out the following statement as the result of his personal observation:

"The present strike that has closed the mines in sections of several states, that has thrown into idleness over 100,000 men, and that threatens serious injury to vast business interests, should be brought to a termination as speedily as possible by some just methods of settlement.

"Brute force will not settle this strike. If every mine in the country were stopped, some, and indeed, most of the operators will not yield to the demands lately promulgated by the officers of the miners' union. If the miners meet with present defeat a fresh outbreak is likely to take place at any time in the near future. The only true settlement is one that will have the approval and assent of the great majority of both the operators and miners. This settlement can only be reached in a joint conference.

"The miners have been receiving too little; they now demand too much, or at least more than trade conditions will allow. The mining industry, like all others, has suffered from the effects of the panic. In this, as in other industries, several reductions of wages have taken place during the past three years. The employers generally deplore these sad conditions, but have been as helpless as the miners in remedying them.

"The miners cannot win this strike, even partially, unless they moderate their demands. They have started out with too big a load on their shoulders. They must lighten it or else it will crush and ruin their cause."

Illinois Strike Situation. Springfield, Ill., July 9.—The miners' strike situation in Illinois is as follows: All the miners in the Wilmington district, 3,000 in number, are out. In Springfield district most of the miners are working. In Peoria district the miners are still working. The miners at Stanton and Mount Olive have given out assurance that the Belleville miners would strike, but the Belleville men met and decided to go to work. At Carlinville there is no strike. Virden and Auburn miners struck weeks ago. The miners at Assumption are out, but at Pana and Taylorville are working.

Pana Miners to Quit. Pana, Ill., July 9.—The miners to the number of more than 600 assembled at the fair ground park Thursday and held a most harmonious meeting. There was no parleying or argument of any nature whatever—simply a motion being made to refrain from work until the strike which was inaugurated by the United Mine Workers of America on July 4 is at an end, and the demand of wages of 1894, 30 cents gross weight and company furnish powder and all supplies, is granted by the Pana operators. This motion was carried.

Railroads Confiscate Coal. Chicago, July 9.—Railroad companies yesterday issued orders to confiscate all coal being carried over their respective lines. It was issued because of the coal miners' strike and impending coal famine. The order carried chaos and confusion in its execution, and local coal operators who expected to receive special shipments to meet the demand of the day were thrown on their resources to overcome the difficulty incidental to the seizure. The roads on which the coal has been stopped are the heaviest carriers in the West and include nearly all lines running out of Chicago.

Strikes in Tennessee. Chattanooga, Tenn., July 9.—All of the miners at Greenwood, Baron Fork, Strunks Lane, Helenwood and Glenmary, Tenn., on the Cincinnati Southern railway, are on a strike. A few of the men went out six weeks ago, while the others followed. At the Bryant mine, Pine Knott, Tenn., the men laid down their tools. On this railway about 2,000 men are on a strike. There is talk of a strike at Soddy, Tenn., and the mines in the Chattanooga district.

Efforts to Secure Arbitration. Terre Haute, Ind., July 9.—The state labor commissioners Thursday reached the conclusion that the effort for arbitration must be made in the Pittsburg district, if the interstate mining strike is to be settled by that method, and have asked for a meeting in that city. The operators frankly said they would not consent to arbitration, because they had a wage scale contract with their 2,300 miners which ran until next May.

Diggers Gaining Ground. Pittsburg, Pa., July 9.—The close of the third day of the strike finds the diggers gaining strength rapidly in the Pittsburg district, elating the officials and men correspondingly. The coming out of the men along the Baltimore

AN AGENT TELLS JAPAN'S POSITION

THAT COUNTRY DOES NOT WANT HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Minister Hoshi Interviewed—Protection of the Rights of Japanese Subjects the Only Reason for the Protest Against Annexation—State Department Visited.

Washington, July 9.—Minister Hoshi of Japan has received late advices from both Hawaii and Japan which show that negotiations on the differences between the two governments on the immigration question are going forward peaceably and that there is nothing in the progress of the negotiations to justify sensational reports that there is a probability of serious trouble between the two governments. The minister's advices show that there is nothing new in the situation and no cause whatever for apprehension.

With respect to the editorial statement of the Japan Herald that Japan has designs on the Hawaiian islands and was making preparations to supplant the Hawaiian with the Japanese flag the minister authorizes the most direct and positive denial of them as without even a basis of fact.

The Japanese minister called at the state department and had an interview with Assistant Secretary Day. This is the first visit the minister has made to the state department since he fled the protest against the Hawaiian annexation treaty.

WEYLER TO GO HOME. Spain's Official Butcher in Cuba Recalled at Last. Havana, July 7, via Key West, Fla. July 9.—General Weyler has been recalled by the central government. As soon as the Captain General enters Havana from Sancti Spiritus he will tender his resignation, as is usual in such cases, and will probably await further instructions from Madrid. It is likely that he will not turn over the government of Cuba to the second in office and start at once for Spain, as many Captain Generals have done, but will remain in office until his successor arrives.

Cable dispatches from Spain received by way of Key West say that the government intends to replace Weyler with General Ramon Blanco Marquis of Pena Plata, who was Captain General of the island in 1878 and who held the same office in the Philippines when the revolution began there.

Garnishee Law Is Invalid. Indianapolis, Ind., July 9.—The full bench of the supreme court held Thursday that the garnishee law passed by the last general assembly, which has been used as an engine of more or less extortion in the labor districts, until it has become the most thoroughly hated enactment in the statute book, was unconstitutional and void, on the ground that it interfered with the general exemption law. The latter exempts $600 worth of household goods from execution. The ruling is not only upon constitutional points, but also because the garnishee law is discriminatory, and it is beyond the power of the legislature to make classifications which are arbitrary and unreasonable.

Cyclone at Lowry Costs Two Lives. St. Paul, Minn., July 9.—The latest report from Tuesday's cyclone at Lowry in Pope county is that but two persons are dead, Sam Morrow and his 7-year-old daughter, although two others of the Morrow children may not recover. Mrs. Morrow and another child were also injured. The path of the storm was not over twelve miles long and not wide. In Lowry, which has but a few inhabitants, the damage to property was severe and several farms in the path of the storm were devastated, but the aggregate money loss was not great.

Shoots a Schoolmaster. Bloomington, Ill., July 9.—William Verry, a wealthy farmer residing near Armington, last Tuesday night lay in wait for Merrill Ragan, a school teacher, and, as Ragan rode past him on a horse, shot at him, it is said, three times with a Winchester. He will die. Verry alleges that Ragan has ruined Mrs. Verry, aged 15, his daughter. Ragan, who is aged 27, and has a wife and several children, taught school in the neighborhood, and Verry's daughter was one of his pupils.

Gold Democratic Plans. Columbus, O., July 9.—At the meeting of the state executive committee of the national Democrats the state central committee was instructed to call a convention some time in September for the purpose of placing an independent state ticket in the field.

Nordica Is Improving. London, July 9.—Mme. Lillian Nordica, the prima donna, who has been seriously ill at the Hotel Savoy, suffering from peritonitis, is much better. The crisis is passed and her condition is not regarded as being dangerous.

Schwab Chosen President. Piqua, Ohio, July 9.—The Stove Molders' international union closed a three days' convention in this city. Six new unions were organized. George S. Schwab, Louisville, Ky., was chosen president.

Consul Edward H. Baker Is Dead. Buenos Ayres, July 9.—United States Consul Edward H. Baker, who was injured in a railway accident some days ago, died Thursday. He was thought to be recovering, but unexpected complications set in, which caused his death.

Senator Cullom Going to Europe. Washington, July 9.—Senator Cullom of Illinois has decided that he needs a long rest, and will sail for Europe Aug. 4 to remain until some time in October.

Work of Universalist Convention. Detroit, July 9.—The national convention of the Universalist Young People's Christian Union resumed its session Thursday with a devotional meeting on the topic, "Sources of Power." Then followed reports from the executive board, secretary, treasurer, southern missionary, "onward" committee, junior superintendent and Christian citizenship superintendent. All the reports were significant of rapid progress in the various branches of the society.

Kansas City Doctor Shot. Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—Dr. A. L. Berger, one of the best-known physicians of Kansas City, was shot Thursday by John Schlegel, a grocer. He was taken to All Saints' hospital and died shortly after his arrival. Schlegel, when taken to the station, alleged that Dr. Berger had assaulted his wife a few days ago when Mrs. Schlegel had gone to his office as a patient.

McKinley to Attend Reunion. Fremont, Ohio, July 9.—President McKinley has accepted an invitation to attend the Twenty-third Ohio volunteer infantry reunion and the twentieth anniversary celebration of the laying of the city hall corner stone, to be held in this place Sept. 2. He will deliver the address of the day. The president served in the Twenty-third Ohio regiment.

Iowa Bar Association. Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 9.—The third annual meeting of the Iowa State bar association was brought to a close Thursday afternoon. The principal address of the day was made by Judge Gibbons of Chicago. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Mason City, and officers for the ensuing year were chosen. Judge M. J. Wade, Iowa City, is president.

Mississippi River Rising. Minneapolis, Minn., July 9.—The Mississippi river at this point is within six inches of the highest mark reached in the unprecedented floods of April. Between 4,000 and 5,000 men are out of employment as a result of the necessary closing down of the saw-mills, and there will be heavy losses of logs if the rise continues.

SOME NEWS OF WALWORTH COUNTY

School Teacher Sued Them.

Miss Winnie Lincoln brought suit against School District number seven, of Sugar Creek, for a part of her pay as teacher, which the school officers withheld. In a house cleaning matter, Miss Lincoln burned some defaced, mice-eaten records, which she considered worthless, and the board kept back her pay to compensate for what they considered a loss to the district. Later they paid her and the case was dropped.

Money in Bee Trees.

Hunting bee-trees has a more re-laxing a more numerative outlook for the future for it is claimed by bee-keepers that nearly all the young swarms that come out this season succeed in getting away to the woods. One man in Sharon lost ten out of thirteen swarms while other farmers lost all that came out.

A Mysterious Suicide.

An old man known as "Uncle Randolph," a mysterious character living at Honey Creek, was found hanging in an old tenement house, dead. He had appeared in an unusually despondent mood for several days and this was thought to have led to suicide. He had apparently been dead for a couple of days when found.

Adopted Son Robbed Her.

John Horne, adopted son of Pat Horne, of Delavan, was convicted in Justice vonSuessmlich's court last Tuesday of stealing $15 from his mother and in company with some other lads spending it. He was sentenced to the reform school at Waukesha until twenty-one years of age.

ROLLO TAKES A HAND IN A GAME OF GOLF

THE SECOND READER FAVOR- ITE VISITS BUCKLETON.

He and Mr. George and Jonas Are Initiated in the Royal and Ancient Game and Express Varying Sentiments As to the Pastime—Rollo Is Winner.

"Uncle George" said Rollo in his best Second Reader voice, "I have become much interested in what I hear of the game of golf." "That shows that you are not well," replied Mr. George. "For I have seen the game on several occasions and I know for a fact that golf is a disease pure and simple, or rather simple; there is nothing pure about it. The language it develops should prove this. Nevertheless if you are bent upon seeing the pastime I should be glad to oblige you. I know of no more ex-dictitious way to correct your unfortunate tendency."

Rollo, who was always being unmercifully licked for interrupting people larger than himself, stood on one foot to hide his joy and presented a respectful silence.

A Balmey Day on the Links.

It was 98 degrees in the shade when Mr. George and Rollo appeared on Buckleton Links in company with a member of the Sinissippi Golf club. Their escort wore knickerbockers and a copious sweater and had hard work keeping up his golf stockings.

"It's such perfect golfing weather that it would be a shame to miss it," the golpher declared cheerfully.

Mr. George gasped.

"This is the club house," said the guide as they reached the brow of the hill. "And there are the links," he continued waving hand over an expanse of white clover which shimmered in the heat.

"The lynx, you remember," said Mr. George to Rollo. "Is a four footed animal belonging to the feline asparagum family. I am very glad you should have this opportunity to derive practical benefit from your long study of natural history."

And Mr. George stuffed a wet handkerchief in the crown of the cracker-bowl hat he had selected for the occasion.

The Mysteries of the Game.

The golf player ahead of them was heard to sob convulsively, and to turn the conversation drew from his pocket a small rubber dish which he said was a "tee."

"But I always take coffee," said Rollo in a disappointed tone of voice.

"And here are your caddies," continued the guide as two young hopefuls came forward.

"Ten-Caddies, I suppose," observed Rollo, while Jonas kicked him silently but earnestly.

The instructor was oblivious and played on the tee what looked like an overgrown marble.

"You must now address the ball," he said solemnly.

"How do you do? I am very glad to meet you. Lovely weather, if it were only a little cooler in spots," said Rollo, politely taking off his cap to the ball.

Addressing the Ball

The man, with the red topped stockings stopped him and proceeded to explain that "addressing the ball" consisted in standing a few feet from the tee with your feet as wide apart as possible. Then, after saying good bye to home and mother, you turn completely around, without, however, moving your feet an atom. You then proceed to unwind yourself and at the end of the evolution swat the ball violently with a club called a "driver" which looks like a cross between a badly written musical note and the front leg of a camel.

Rollo was the first to essay this painful experiment and as his club swung he found considerable difficulty in hitting the ball. At last he succeeded in knocking it a few yards, Mr. George then came up to the scratch and smote the ball earnestly sending it away off among some weeds and stumps on the left, and then he and his caddy spent half an hour in an attempt to recover it.

Rollo Grows Facetious

The caddy at length declared that the ball was lost and the instructor turned to Rollo and said

"That gives you the hole."

"What hole?" said Rollo in a spirit of repartee.

"The first hole, of course," replied the instructor.

"What will I do with it?" asked Rollo.

"It is proper that I inform you," said the instructor serenely, "that no hilarity is ever permitted in this game. You must not speak unless it is absolutely necessary, and then not above a whisper. The game, when conducted properly, should be played as if you were going to a burying. We will now proceed to the second tee."

Mr. George produced a new ball and they started off across the sun-baked field and finally came to another little plateau just like the one they had started from at the club house. Here they were directed to "drive off" again.

Mr. George Raises His Voice.

"But why in the name of Sodom and Gomorrah," asked Mr. George perspiringly, "why couldn't we have done this at the first croquet ground instead of traveling away over here and blistering our necks. We're getting further and further away from that jug of drinking water in the club house, and all for what nobody but the three hebrew children in the grey furnace have any idea."

"Oh, play the game," said Rollo who had who a point and was becoming interested.

And so they went on plowing their way through clover and tearing up sod at every stroke. Mr. George said he felt certain that the game had been invented by the wandering Jew and that the poor chap had never been pitied half enough. At last over a hill and across a ravine they reached the second "putting green."

"How many strokes have you had?" asked the instructor.

"I don't remember," said Mr. George.

"And I don't remember, either," said Rollo.

"Then you halve the hole" said the disgusted golfer. "Now you drive off once more."

"Always the same old thing over again," said Mr. George, "and nothing ever comes of it. The only object appears to be to keep traveling through the sun for nothing, and aggravating yourself all you can. Dash blank the game. The treadmill or a chain gang in a foundry would be regular larks compared to this measly procession that don't appear to have any end this side of perdition. Whew! but I'm thirsty." And Mr. George headed for the club house, leaving Rollo, whose enthusiasm had risen to fever heat to finish the game alone.

TOBACCO SWEATING NICELY

Very Little Is Doing In the Market The Leaf Says

The Janesville Leaf says: Our market jogs along in the same old rut it has followed for several weeks and at a tardy pace. Among the sales reported are: 236 cases of '94 and '96 sold by A. N. Jones to Chicago parties; 50 cases sold by F. S. Baines to Denver parties and 28 cases sold by George H. Rumrill.

The hot weather of the past few weeks has warmed the cases goods up and it is sweating nicely.

Atmospheric conditions of the most favorable character have given the growing tobacco a remarkable start toward maturity.

BILL BOARDS ARE IN DEMAND

Ringling Bros. and Buffalo Bill Both Want the Space.

Bill board room is in great demand and is liable to be for the next few days. This is due to a fight between the Ringling Bros. shows and the Buffalo Bill Wild West aggregation. Both of these amusement enterprises are to seek Janesville money this year within a few weeks of each other. The Wild West billing brigade are expected here next Monday and new bill boards are being erected for their use.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

That Common Trouble, Acid Dyspepsia or Sour Stomach.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to promptly digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the Stuart Chemical Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectively restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living. THE OVERFLOW OF LOCAL NEWS.

SOME NEWS OF THE HORSES.

John Kelly's Stall Is a Very Strong One—Other Gossip.

Monroe Salisbury's stable driven by John Kelly is an imposing one. Azote, 2.04, candidate for specials and free-for-alls, had a complete rest last season, and is now said to be in perfect shape and as fast, if not faster, than ever. The bay horse Boodle, 2.12, by Stranger, dam Bride, by Jay Gould is considered a probability for the 2.10 list. The bay mare She, 2.14, by Abbottford, has been entered extensively all over the country, but her first race did not indicate that she was likely to be very formidable, as she finished behind the money, and the time was not exceedingly fast. Tino, 2.18, by Etnan Allen, Jr., and Erastus C. 2.22, by Palo Alto, are the remaining record-holders of the string. Green ones Jib Albert, by Albert W. out of Flying Jib's dam; Director Prince, by Director, dam by Dexter Prince; Tattie Stamboul, a daughter of Stamboul, out of a Guy Wilkes mare; Lady Salisbury, a three-year-old filly by Director, dam by Dexter Prince, and Rest, a three-year-old colt by Director, out of Lily Stanley, 2.17, by Whippleton. In the side-wheel division will be W. Wood, 2.07, by Steinway, and Javlin, 2.13, by Creole. Altogether the stable appears very strong.

A Handsome Free-For-Aller.

W. Wood, 2.07, the Salisbury free-for-all pacer, is a big, strong, fine-looking fellow. Mr. Salisbury says he is a very sluggish, lazy horse, but as he never had one in his life that he could not put some life into, he thinks this one will wake up after a while. He also stated that high class pacers were a very scarce article on the east at present; lots of speedy ones, but no real good race trotters. The green trotter, Jim Albert, is one of Mr. Salisbury's favorites, and he says he is just as good a horse as Azote when he gets him right. This fellow is troubled with rheumatism or something of that sort, and is not getting much work.

The Salisbury stables carries a barrel of blue mud to be used on the feet and legs of the horses. It comes from the bay in California, and is always cool, even in the middle of a hot day. It is a kind of clay and is a little salty and is considered the greatest stuff yet discovered for hoof packing.

Other Horse Notes.

JOHN KELLY won his race with the pacer Javlin, at Peoria, reducing his record to 2:09.

T. J. DUNBAR had Tom Ogden in the free for all pacer race at Peoria yesterday, but unlaced.

DELMONT, the horse that defeated Governor Strong in the free for all for trotters at the last Janesville trotting meeting, won the 2:12 trotting purse at Peoria yesterday. John Kelly's She was in the race, but was unlaced.

Big, stout hearted Badge, the pacer who has raced here on numerous occasions, made a new track record at Peoria yesterday, although he only won second money, by pacing in 2:06. Colerage won the race. Miss Williams, the mare that won a hot race here some time ago, got third money.

An Important Function Stimulated.

The kidneys exercise most important functions, which are so wearisome that they tax to the utmost the strength and endurance of these busy little organs. Every breath, every pulsation of the heart, every movement of a limb, every thought, makes waste, and necessitates the development of new atoms. The used up particles in the blood are sifted from it, and dissolved in a watery fluid by the kidneys, which then discharge this fluid into the bladder. A train of disasters to the system would follow if these "sieves" so to speak, were not thoroughly strained off and discharged. This is the case when the kidneys become inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters restoring their activity, not only keeps open the most important outlet for impurities but prevents diseases of the kidneys themselves, which when left to become liable to fall prey to diabetes, Bright's disease, nephritis, albuminuria, and other maladies especially incident thereon, which, although not especially rapid in their progression, are particularly obstinate and fatal.

MISS GODDEN SPEAKS OF ART

Former Janesville Woman Reads a Paper At Milwaukee Meeting.

At the final session of the department of art education at the Milwaukee meeting, Miss Lillie M. Godden, formerly of Janesville, but now of Chicago spoke on "What Do the People Want in Drawing in Our Public Schools?" She said:
Drawing in our public schools should be educational; it should be practical. It should be a language—another means of expression. It is not a mere accomplishment for the amusement of persons of leisure. I do not believe in placing drawings in our public schools, using public money simply to make a few pictures for the beauty of them, and call it art. Drawing means far more than this. The work in our public schools, artistically speaking, is of but little value. But from an educational point of view it is invaluable. Every child has an aesthetic side to be developed or withered. It is the education in drawing that develops the aesthetic nature. The question should not be of what use can we make of this drawing, but rather what power will it bring to us or anyone in his mastery of life's problems. Each effort to place what is seen is rewarded by a quickened observation and a taste form and proportion. Greater accuracy is seen in everything. It would secure much memory and illustrative work and carry drawing into all other branches. This paper was illustrated by free-arm movement exercises, and language, botany and geography illustrations shown on a blackboard provided for that purpose.

Between Seed Time and Harvest

Is a good opportunity to enquire about farming lands in South Dakota, only one day's ride from Chicago. Bountiful crops of wheat, corn, barley and flax reward the tiller of the soil. As a stock and dairy country South Dakota leads all the world. First class farm lands with nearby markets can now be bought for from $10, $12 $15, and upwards, per acre, and this is the time to invest. For further particulars write to George H. Hesford, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, Old Colony Building, Chicago, Ill.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

680 B. C.—Battle of Thermopylae and death of Leonidas, the Greek hero.

1286—Battle of Semprach; Arnold von Winkelried "made way for liberty" and secured the independence of Switzerland.

1700—Pierre LeMoyne, Sieur d'Illerville, founder of Louisiana, died in Cuba; born 1681.

1755—Bradock's defeat.

1777—Henry Hallam, author of the noted history of the middle ages, born; died 1859.

1790—Edmund Burke, British statesman, died; born 1730.

1843—Washington Alston, painter, died at Cambridge, Mass.; born in South Carolina 1778.

1850—Zachary Taylor, twelfth president, died; born 1784. Taylor was a soldier president. While a young man he served as captain against the Indians during the 1812 war. He also fought against Black Hawk and the Seminoles. When the government decided to interfere in the dispute about the Texas border, Taylor was sent with an army into the territory claimed by Mexico. He was attacked, and not only defended his ground, but carried "the war into Africa."

1890—General Clinton B. Fisk, eminent soldier, Methodist and former prohibition candidate for president, died in New York; born 1828.

1895—David A. Daboll, publisher of Daboll's Almanac, died at New London, Conn; born 1813.

The working of convicts on the public highways is found very satisfactory in southern states. It may furnish a solution of the prison labor problem. In North Carolina it has been found to cost six cents a day less to keep convicts at work on the roads than to keep them idle in prison, and the benefit to the state in improved roads is material.

Edson A. Burdick, brother of E. E. Burdick of the town of Janesville, has been promoted from a $1,600 clerkship to the position of special examiner in the pension department at $2,000. Mr. Burdick, who has been in the pension department in Washington for years, is commended highly in the promotion announcement.

C. & N. W. bonds are so good that creditors are unwilling to exchange them for cash. The outstanding issue will be replaced therefore by a new issue of $165,000,000 at 34 per cent. running 90 years. The faith of investors in the future of the northwest does not seem to have been shaken.

When Secretary Carlisle made his annual report last December, he estimated the deficit for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1897, at $64,500,000. It actually figures $18,623,107. The discrepancy is explained by the fact that republicans have been running things for the last five months.

It is very kind in the democrats of the house to say that they will not attempt to delay the tariff bill but the result would be just the same whether they did or not. Fortunately for the country the democrats of the house have not the power to do any mischief.

Southern Wisconsin made several big leaf-buying firms wealthy this year and a rushing tobacco business in Janesville and Edgerton is promised for next winter if the 1897 crop is anywhere near fair.

Jerry Simpson is entirely too pessimistic. He certainly hasn't found the struggle for life a harder one than did Americans of revolutionary days, and he will find it difficult to point out any one who has.

By no means the least likeable trait in the makeup of President McKinley is his love and honor for his aged mother. Long may she continue to live and take pride in the honorable career of such a son.

A Base Deceiver.

Nellie—Have you seen Clara since she got married?

Jennies—Yes, I met her the other day.

"Is she happy?"

"No, she isn't."

"Didn't she love him when she married him?"

"No. She married him because he kept an ice cream parlor, and he basely deceived her a few weeks later by selling out and starting a livery stable."

"The wretch!"—Tammany Times.

Prosperous Times.

"How's business?" asked Cawker of the druggist.

"Excellent! We are compounding a great many dyspepsia prescriptions."

"How do you account for so many cases of dyspepsia?"

"There are two reasons for it. A great many brides have gone to house-keeping lately and a new cooking school has opened just around the corner."

FIBROID TUMOR

Expelled by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Interview With Mrs. B. A. Lombard.

I have reason to think that I would not be here now if it had not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cured me of a fibroid tumor in my womb.

Doctors could do nothing for me, and they could not cure me at the hospital. I will tell you about it:

I had been in my usual health, but had worked quite hard. When my monthly period came on, I flowed very badly. The doctor gave me medicine, but it did me no good. He said the flow must be stopped if possible, and he must find the cause of my trouble.

Upon examination, he found there was a Fibroid Tumor in my womb, and gave me treatment without any benefit whatever. About that time a lady called on me, and recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, said she owed her life to it. I said I would try it, and did. Soon after the flow became more natural and regular. I still continued taking the Compound for some time. Then the doctor made an examination again, and found everything all right. The tumor had passed away and that dull ache was gone.—Mrs. B. A. LOMBARD, Box 71, Westdale, Mass.

STRIKE WOMAN DOWN IN A BERRY PATCH

SUN DOES CRUEL WORK NEAR MILTON.

Mrs. Linder suffers a stroke and lies in a serious condition—Emerald Grove the hottest place, the Register being 108 degrees above—Notes of the weather.

There was no "let up" to the heat today, although a breeze was blowing. Last night was the hottest night of the year. Prostrations are reported as follows:

LINDER, MRS. CHAS., overcome while picking berries near Milton. Condition serious. BAKER, MISS MINNIE, waiter at the Park Hotel. Will recover.

J. Mack, of Milton, was in the city yesterday and reported a case of sun-stroke at his berry farm. Mrs. Charles Linder, while engaged in picking berries, was overcome by the heat and was seen to topple and fall. She was removed to the house, but has not yet entirely recovered. Mrs. Linder once suffered from a stroke of paralysis and it is thought that this fact made her more subject to the action of the sun's rays.

Horses suffered severely and an equine owned by Con. Murphy fell on the street yesterday.

108 Above At the Grove. Emerald Grove was probably the hottest place in this vicinity. Reports from that place say that accurate thermometers registered 108 degrees above zero.

In down town districts at nine o'clock last evening the thermometer registered the 89 degrees mark while as early as 5 o'clock this morning it reached its highest mark of the year for that early in the day when it registered 92 above. At 7:30 o'clock this morning business was as lively at the noon hour. Marked wagons and teams of all kinds were to be seen while business men were on hand early in order that they might accomplish the "heavy work" before the hot rays of old Sol had commenced to count.

Night Officer John Brown says that an unusually large number of people were to be seen on the streets at all hours of the night. Not a few sat about the hotels until the small hours of the morning. The city parks were well patronized and it is estimated that at least a hundred men and boys found relief there throughout the night. The street cars were well patronized last night until the 10:30 o'clock hour, the new car being filled from early until late.

Many Went In Bathing. It is doubtful if Rock river cooled as many Janesville bathers in one evening as were to be found in the waters last night. The sand bars near the city limits were fairly alive with bathers and it is estimated that at 8 o'clock at least 200 boys and men were in the water at these points. At Monterey, near the railroad bridge, about one hundred people were in the water at one time, and it was a late hour before all had left for their homes.

Beloit thermometers varied yesterday, the registry varying from 95 to 107 degrees above in the shade.

At noon the thermometer at Smith's pharmacy registered 100 degrees above or the same as at that point yesterday.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets registered 102 degrees above.

CARROLL CASE RE-INSTATED

General Doe's Motion To That End Is Granted By Judge Fish.

During the February term of the Walworth County Circuit court, Judge Fish ordered the case of Philip Carroll vs. Ogden H. Fethers, et al. dismissed. The attorney for the plaintiff, General Doe, had given the case no attention for some years, hence the dismissal. When General Doe came home from Washington last spring he moved for a re-instatement of the case, and it was argued before Judge Fish in June. On Monday, Clerk of the Court Morgan received an opinion and order from Judge Fish, re-instating the case and it will come up for trial. The case is from Rock county, and is the result of a suit in which Fethers and Fifeid carried through the circuit and supreme courts for Mr. Carroll, in which he was awarded some thousands of dollars. A Hyatt Smith appeared in the case as attorney of record, and to him Attorneys Fethers and Jeffris paid the money after deducting their legitimate fees, taking his receipt therefor. Carroll, it is claimed, did not receive the money from Smith, and brought suit to recover of the attorneys who paid it to Smith.

The case has attracted considerable attention, not only on account of its peculiar features, but that General Doe had suffered it to drag along on the calendar from year to year.

THE BAGS OF CLAMS FILL THE ROOMS

SHELL WAREHOUSE IS FULL TO OVERFLOWING.

No More Can Be Received Until Additional Storage Facilities Are Secured—Mr. Marsh Coming From New York City To Look Over the Field In a Few Days

M. J. Marsh of New York city, the "father of the clam industry," is to arrive in the city within the next few days for the purpose of looking over the local field and providing a warehouse with more space for storage purposes. He will also take steps toward deciding about the starting of a button factory in this town.

Although this was the regular receiving day at the North Main street clam warehouse not a single bivalve was admitted. This was not because clams were not offered but was owing to the fact that at present every available space is occupied with well filled sacks as one hundred tons of shells are now on hand. Manager Richard F. Finley is puzzled as to know what the next move will be, but there is one thing certain—either the present quarters will have to be enlarged or new ones provided and the visit of Mr. Marsh to this city is mainly to settle this point.

Many Shells Offered.

As early as six o'clock this morning vehicles of all kinds were to be seen coming into this city from the surrounding country where clams "do most congregated." The wagons were filled with bags of clams and in many instances a half dozen clam hunters could be seen seated on each outfit. Three wagons came from near Beloit, and when the hunters found out that their clams would not be received they used shocking language.

No more clams will be received until the arrival of Mr. Marsh. This statement did not discourage the hunters and they continued to rake them in by the thousands. It is now estimated that at least fifteen tons are on hand in and near this city that will be brought to market as soon as the opportunity presents itself.

Mr. Finley said to a Gazette representative that his firm thought favorably of the old foundry buildings located in the Spring Brook addition at the end of the Jackson street bridge for a storage warehouse and would have rented them had it not been for the fact that they were on the C & N. W. railroad. The greater portion of outside shipments of clams come from Albany, Brodhead and other towns that are on the St. Paul road and for this reason the company prefers to have the local warehouse on the same road.

MR. BIGLEY IS PROMOTED.

Wisconsin Telephone Company's Electrician Will Superintend Oconomowoc Office.

Charles Bigley the expert electrician of the Wisconsin Telephone company, has been promoted, and made superintendent at Oconomowoc. He will leave at once to assume his new position. Four years ago Mr. Bigley entered the service of the Wisconsin Telephone company in this city. He soon became an expert at the business and was tireless in his work. The respect and esteem of his employers and of the local public as well, was won by close application and faithful service. Mr. Bigley will not remove his family from this city for the present. His many Janesville friends will be glad to know that he has received a well earned advancement.

NO WHEELS TO SPIN AT "LOWER MILL"

COTTON COMPANY CLOSE THE MONTEREY FACTORY.

Low Price of Goods and High Price of Raw Material Force the Move—Will Remain Shut Until Conditions Improve—Nearly Two Hundred Hands Out of Work.

The 300 looms at the lower cotton mill at Monterey are now silent. They are liable to remain so the greater part of the summer, and 175 hands are thrown out of employment.

The same influences that closed the upper mill apply in this case—a slow demand; a low priced market; with raw cotton bringing good stiff prices.

Several weeks ago when the upper mill closed its doors, the lower mill at Monterey reduced its force to half time. One day the weaving and carding departments would be running, and then be closed, while the spinning, spooling and dressing departments would resume work. This plan was followed for several weeks there being plenty of raw cotton on hand that had been purchased when the market was on a level basis.

Wait For Market Changes.

Now that this supply of cotton has been greatly reduced, and in the face of the fact that prices show but little improvement, it was deemed best by the directors to close the mill.

Thus the cotton working industry in this city is at a standstill and with but little prospects of immediate improvement. In the neighborhood of 400 people are out of work and at a time when they need employment.

"Just when the mills will resume operations is a matter of doubt," said a local official this morning. "One thing is certain the local mills will not resume work until there is a change in both the buying and selling markets of raw cotton and cotton goods."

AS THE SUN WENT DOWN.

Two soldiers lay on the battlefield
At night when the sun went down.
One held a lock of thin gray hair,
And one held a lock of brown.

One thought of his sweetheart back at home,
Happy and young and gay,
And one of his mother left alone,
Feeble and old and gray.

Each in the thought that a woman cared Murmured a prayer to God,
Lifting his gaze to the blue above,
There on the battle sod.

Each in the joy of a woman's love
Smiled through the pain of death,
Murmured the sound of a woman's name,
Though with his parting breath.

Pale grew the dying lips of each.
Then, as the sun went down,
One kissed a lock of thin gray hair,
And one kissed a lock of brown.

THE DEMAINE DYE.

"Tell," the girl pleaded coaxingly, with her soft cheek against his.

"Ask me anything but that and I will grant it," answered her lover.
"That is a matter which concerns my honor, and so not even for you can I—"

"Oh," she interrupted pettishly. "I am sick of hearing that cant about your honor. You only promised your father, and I am sure if he had known me he would have told me, but you—you are as hard as adamant. You can't care for me properly, or you would do what I ask you—the very first thing I have ever asked you," she ended pettishly.

Alan Demaine smiled at the pretty exhibition of childish wrath. Then he said gravely, yet firmly:
"It is no use, Elsie. You are causing both yourself and me needless pain by constantly teasing me on this matter.
Once and for all I cannot tell you, so now let us talk of something pleasant.
What is the last new gown like?" he ended, smiling lovingly down at her.

The girl looked at him, a curious glance, half menace, half malice, then, veiling her eyes, drooping before his ardent glance, she allowed herself to be coaxed, flattered and petted into a seemingly forgetful mood.

"I wonder why the little witch is so eager to know the secret—a trade secret too?" thought Demaine to himself that night as he smoked a quiet cigar. "A childish whim, I suppose, or woman's curiosity."

And, so thinking, he dismissed the subject from his mind.
But he would not have dismissed it quite so easily if he could have looked into a distant chamber in another part of the house and seen a little fury excitedly pacing the floor and murmuring to herself:

"I will get to know it yet, whether by fair means or foul it matters little, but I will get it, and then"—
"I must be off to the works at once," Alan said next morning to his mother and sisters.

"Tell Elsie, when she comes down, that I am awfully sorry not to be able to take her for a drive, as we arranged yesterday, but something unexpected has turned up, and I am compelled to attend to it. No eye like the master's—eh, mother?" he finished laughingly.

Mrs. Demaine looked fondly at her son.

"You are just like your father," she said proudly. "It was aye duty before pleasure with him, but I'll tell the lassie, Alan, and maybe you'll be home by dinner time."

"I can't say, mother," he answered cheerily, "only wait for me."

And then they heard the hall door close and knew he was off. The day wore away. Elsie declined Enid De-maine's offer to drive her in place of Alan and went off for a long walk by herself. Enid and Cicely looked curiously after her as she walked down the drive, and then Cicely said half dreamily:

"I do think there is something odd about Elsie. I wish Alan had not fallen in love with her. Do you know," lowering her voice to an awestricken whisper, "I'm afraid she is not trustworthy."

When Alan came home that evening,
he seemed in uproariously good spirits.
He laughed and chatted and joked and teased until his mother declared that he was "fey." After dinner he invited Elsie out on to the terrace, to "see the moonlight," he declared mendaciously.

Very fair and sweet the girl looked in her pretty white gown of some shimmering material, and so her lover evidently thought, for he suddenly caught her to his breast and rained passionate kisses on her brow and lips. Then, just as suddenly, he thrust her from him and stood facing her in the moonlight.
The girl was half frightened at his manner.

"What is the matter, Alan?" she asked timidly.

"Nothing, my pet," he replied in his old manner; "only you looked so bewitching I think I lost my senses."

"I think you did," she retorted co-
earnestly, "do you really and truly love me?"

He looked at her curiously, then,
reflecting himself, replied:

"What a foolish question to ask!
How many hundreds of times have I told you the old, old story?"

"But," she persisted, raising her face to his, "I never, never can believe it until you tell me that secret."

His face darkened at her words.

"Did I not tell you last night that your persistency was worse than useless?" he retorted, looking coldly down at her.

"Well, then," she answered passionately, "until you do tell me I will never marry you—never!"

There was a long silence between them. Finally the man broke it.

"Do you mean what you say?" he asked in a low, tense voice.

"Certainly," she responded in a hard, determined tone. Then, changing her manner to one of winning sweetness:
"But I know you will tell me. You could never, never be so cruel as to refuse."

He turned away and began pacing
the lawn to an undecided, wavering fashion, quite unlike his usual firm step. The girl followed him and laid one hand on his arm.

"Tell me," she whispered beseechingly. Then she raised herself on tiptoe and kissed him.

"I cannot resist," he murmured, the stooped suddenly and whispered something into her ear.

"Is that all?" she asked, in evident surprise. He nodded.

The next afternoon Elsie refused to accept of companionship and went for a solitary stroll. As she approached a little wooded copse about half a mile from the house a young man sauntered slowly toward her.

"Well, what success this time?" he demanded, without troubling to make any preliminary greeting.

"Wait a minute, Hugh," the girl answered. "I am quite breathless with hurry. That tiresome Enid wanted to come with me. And I wasn't at all sure of Alan not coming too."

The man stood for a minute or two in silence, then glanced at his companion impatiently.

"I have got it," she answered quietly,
returning his glance.

His whole face changed and glowed with triumph.

"You little darling, you clever little darling," he exclaimed, and then took her in his arms and kissed her passionately. She lay quite passive in his embrace, her dark eyes gleaming with tenderest love.

"Now we can marry," he whispered.
"But you have not told me yet, Elsie.
Are you sure you have got the exact details?"

"It is all written here, word for word, as Alan repeated it to me," she replied.

He read the paper greedily which she handed to him, then placed it in his pocketbook and drew a deep breath of relief.

"So that is all the secret of De-maine's wonderful purple dye," he said. "Well, I rather think now that the monopoly is destroyed. Won't the old fashioned firm be astonished when they find themselves undersold in the market by a dye exactly like their own?"

And he laughed a cruel laugh of triumph. "I always hated Demaine," he continued, "always. This will be splendid revenge, besides making all our fortunes. But come, Elsie," he added, "it is time we were moving. I'll see you to the park gates, and then I must get back to town."

A month passed away, and Elsie was still visiting the Demaines, still outwardly engaged to Alan, of whom nevertheless she saw very little.

"Hugh," Elsie said to her lover one evening, "don't you think"—and then she stopped in confusion.

"Think what?" said Hugh idly, without looking at her.

"That it is not very nice or pleasant for me to be staying in Alan's home, when I have—betrayed him?" she ended bravely.

"I don't see what else you can do," retorted Hugh lazily, "unless you go back to your aunt's."

The girl crimsoned to her brow.

"Couldn't we be married now?" she whispered in shamed tones.

He looked at her sharply, then replied:
"Look here, Elsie, it is best to be straightforward, so we may as well end this farce at once. I am engaged to my cousin Marian, and we are to be married next month."

There was a long silence. Up in the bright blue heavens a bird was caroling merrily, and in a strange, mechanical manner Elsie counted five daisies which were in a cluster at her feet. Then she spoke:

"So you just used me as a tool, Hugh?"

"Yes," he acquiesced shamefacedly.
She laughed—a strange, hard laugh.

"It does not hurt very much after all —not very much," she repeated piteously, and then without another word turned and left him.

When Alan Demaine reached home that night, his mother and sisters met him with the news that Elsie had been suddenly summoned to meet her aunt.

"Though when she got the letter I'm sure I don't know," added Enid suspiciously. Her brother made no reply, but went straight to his own room, and there, on the toilet table, lay a tear stained note.

"I have been a wicked, deceitful girl," the letter ran, "and now the greatest punishment I have to bear is the knowledge that I have brought ruin upon you." Then followed an explanation concerning her curiosity about the dye, and the note ended with a plea for forgiveness.

In reply Alan wrote as follows: "My forgiveness you have fully and freely, and I sincerely wish you every happiness in the future. You must not distress yourself about 'ruining me,' as the 'secret' (?) which I told you concerning the purple dye is no secret at all, but a very ordinary chemical preparation well known in the trade. Forgive me for deceiving you. I overheard your conversation with the scamp who used you as his tool, and I could not resist my little piece of revenge. The De-maine dye is a secret still, so you may cease fretting about that. My mother, who knows nothing, sends you her love.
In a day or two I shall simply tell her that the engagement is dissolved."

Three months after the dispatch of this letter Alan's manager ceased from troubling, for the new firm failed irretrievably.

"Hang it all!" said Hugh to his confidential assistant. "We have got the correct ingredients, man. It must be in the mixing that we fail."

And when his speech found its way to Alan's ears he simply laughed. "It was Della's who failed," he said to himself, "not the mixing." And then, with a new, glad hope springing in his heart, he joined his sisters and his sister's friend Monica in the drawing room.—London Sun.

Reasons Why Chamberlain's Colic,

Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the Best.

1. Because it affords almost instant relief in case of pain in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus.

2. Because it is the only remedy that never fails in the most severe cases of dysentery and diarrhoea.

3. Because it is the only remedy that will cure chronic diarrhoea.

4. Because it is the only remedy that will prevent bilious colic.

5. Because it is the only remedy that will cure epidemic dysentery.

6. Because it is the only remedy that can always be depended upon in cases of cholera infantum.

7. Because it is the most prompt and most reliable medicine in use for bowel complaints.

8. Because it produces no bad results.

9. Because it is pleasant and safe to take.

10. Because it has saved the lives of more people than any other medicine in the world.

A Little More Cost Brings Big Profits.

The addressing, folding, inclosing, sealing and stamping of five thousand circulars, with postage, will cost at least $65, whether the circular is good or bad. Notwithstanding this fixed charge, some strive to save a dollar or two on the cost of printing, although the goods advertised are to be judged by the character of the printing, just as a house is judged by the character of its salesmen. Good printing costs but little more, and that "little more" brings greater returns than any other part of the cost. Order your printing where good work is assured.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job

FASHION'S FANCIES.

White Costumes Reign In France—Dress of Mousseline de Laine.

Tailor made costumes, which hold their own in fashionable favor year after year, because they are so neat, serviceable and becoming, nevertheless change somewhat from season to season, and are now no longer the rigid and severe apparel that they were when they first came about. The bolero, opening at will over blouses of gauze, crape, lace or mousseline de soie, form a frequent feature of this class of gowns, and short, close bodices, with a slight basque, trimmed with galloon or military braid, are also much liked.

White moire forms a highly acceptable trimming for cloth gowns, capes and wraps. Although it is not at all durable, it has the force of novelty and fashion to back it, and is greatly worn. Long traveling wraps of cloth and cloth capes have revers and collars of cream or white moire, and medall collars of cloth are lined with the moire, which also forms the lining of capes themselves. A light silk lining is indispensable for cloth capes, which are considered to lack elegance without it.

White costumes are enjoying a great vogue in France, and the vogue is a con-

CHARMING COLORS.

Straw Color For Brunettes—Light Shades For Pale People.

Narrow bands of black velvet on straw colored gauze or silk are very fashionable and straw gowns or bodices thus trimmed are charming in effect, both for brunettes and red haired women. It used to be said that the same color as that of the hair was to be chosen for daylight wear and the same color as that of the eyes for evening. This is a rule which insures one against mistakes and unbecoming tints, but it is more rigid than is necessary. If it were implicitly followed, black eyed brunettes would be entirely confined to black clothing, which is becoming to them, but not to be adopted without change. The chief thing to be considered in choosing colors is the complexion, except in the case of red hair, which is so much the most obvious note of personal color that it has to be allowed the principal weight in the matter. Putting, therefore, red haired persons aside as a special class to be separately considered, the tone of the skin is the best guide to the selection of tints for the wardrobe. Some dark haired people are charming in blues and lavenders, some light haired ones in reds and yellows. Very pale shades of any color require a fair, smooth skin. Light green, light violet and light yellow have the effect of giving a pale skin a rosy stantly increasing one. In woolen goods, lawn and silk, etamines, grenadine, linen and pique there are charming gowns, suitable for house and country or seaside wear. The illustration shows a summer costume having a skirt of cream mousseline de laine, shirred around the hips by three rows of gathering. The blouse bodice of pink surah is close fitting at the back, while in front it has a plaited plastron, with a pointed yoke of guipure. The plastron is framed by double ruffles of white surah. The close sleeves have slight bouffants at the top, and the belt of emerald green satin is closed by a paste buckle. A hat of white straw is worn, trimmed with white lace and pink flowers.

SUMMER TOILET.

tinge. When the complexion is rough, strong colors are preferable, especially reds. The illustration given today shows a house costume of pink mousseline de soie. The material is accordion plaited and falls from head to foot in a long, loose mantle, having a dalmatic collar of white guipure which extends to the foot in front. Beneath this loose robe is a blouse costume of pink satin having a collar and plaited jabot of white mousseline de soie. The belt of pink satin ties in front with long ends, and there are choux of pink satin at each side near the sleeves, which are tight and covered with guipure. The shoulder puffs of pink mousseline de soie are finished by deep accordion plaiting.
